The Columbian Mirror
AND ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE.

From the London Gazette, Extraordinary, of Thursday, June 6.

Downing Street, June 6, 1799.

Dispatches of which the following are extracts, have been received from sir Morton Eden, K. B. by the right honorable lord Grenville, his majesty's principal secretary of state for the foreign department.

Extract of a letter from sir Morton Eden, K. B. dated Vienna, May 23.

I have the honor of inclosing three extraordinary Gazettes of this place, with the translations, together with the translation of an article in the Ordinary Gazette of yesterday; and sincerely congratulate your lordship on the happy turn of affairs in the Grisons and the Little Cantons, which must contribute so essentially to the further success of the campain in Italy, and so greatly facilitate the operations of the Russian army, which entered this country on the 15th instant, and of that under the command of the archduke Charles.

VIENNA, MAY 18.

Captain Vimmer, of the regiment of Lobkowitz cavalry, arrived here yesterday from field marshal Suwarrow, with the following account of his further operations:

As every account agreed that the enemy had only a small garrison in Tortona, field marshal Suwarrow ordered prince Pangrazion, who was at Pavia, to cross the Po without delay with the advanced guard, consisting of a regiment of chasseurs, two battalions of grenadiers, two battalions of infantry, and two regiments of Cossacks, under the command of general Grekow.

They passed the river near Corvesino in barges and flat bottomed boats, and pushed forward to Voghera. On reconnoitring, it was discovered that the enemy had strengthened the garrison of Tortona. In consequence of which general Karaiczay received orders to join the Prince, who crossed the river with two battalions of the regiment of Frolich, two squadrons of Lobkowitz's dragoons, and two of Karaiczay's, which passed the Scrivan near Castle Nuovo, and formed near Torre di Garrosole, between Tortona and Alexandria.

But the following day, having learned that Moreau was posted near Alexandria, on the banks of the river, with the two divisions of Victor and Grenier, and whatever force he had been able to collect from Turin, and other places, the field marshal resolved to march with his whole army against Tortona.

The two divisions, Zoph and Frolich, under the orders of the general of cavalry Melas, marched from their camp at Casal Pusterlengo to Plaisance' where they passed the Po, after having previously carried the important post of Bovis (leaving there gen. Morzin, with three battalions and two squadrons) and encamped near Castle St. Giovanni. The following day they passed by Ponte Coronne at Tortona. At dusk the same day major gen. marquis Chatelet attacked the gate of Vogera with two battalions of the regiment of Alvinzy, a reserve of grenadiers' and a squadron of Lobstowitz, under the orders of col. Spannochi, and with the assistance of the inhabitants, who at heart are faithful to their king, the gate was forced, notwithstanding the fire from the citadel. Thus fell the fortress of Tortona, the key of Piedmont.

The Russian general prince Gortzakow, witnessed their operation. The troops were received with shouts of joy by the inhabitants. The town was illuminated the whole night, and the next day (the 10th) high mass and Te Deum were sung at the churches.

There were but few cannon on the town. The enemy, 700 strong, have retired to the citadel, which is blockaded by 4 battalions, and the works are already begun.

The enemy left behind them 250 wounded or sick, 12 of whom are officers.

The army passed the Scrivia on the 10th, which was so rapid as to render it impossible to construct a bridge. The men passed through the water up to their middle, and joined the Russian advanced guard near Torre di Garrofole.

General Vukassovich advanced with his brigade beyond Novara to Vercelly; and his advanced guard, under col. prince Charles of Rohan, took the important fortress of Ivrea, which secures to us the valley of Aost. Thirty pieces of cannon and a great quantity of ammunition were found in the place.

A detachment of the same corps has also taken 17 guns on the Lago Maggiore.

Colonel prince Victor of Rohan pushed forward with a corps of 2,000 men as far as the Lake of Como, where he took one gun boat, and obliged the enemy to burn two others.

Being supported by the peasants, who take up arms every where, he has marched against a body of French who have retreated to the environs of Caiaveuna. The canton of Uri, and the districts of Bellinzone, are also in insurrection against the French.

Major Luzioni, who entered Piedmont with 30 hussars, has armed all the peasants who join our troops, and has already advanced by Dorra Paldea as far as Chivas, two posts from Turin.

Colonel Strauch, detached from the Tyrol, with 5000 men, has penetrated into the valley of Brembona, and has driven the enemy from Morbegno. Major Fredigoni, of the Tyrolese chasseurs, with 800 men, is on his march from Edola to Tereno in the Valteline, against the enemy.

The field marshal hopes, that by means of those different operations, combined with those of field marshal lieutenant Bellegarde, the enemy will be speedily driven from the Valteline.

Field marshal Suwarrow has detached field marshal lieutenant Otto, with 5000 infantry and 1500 horse, against general Montrichard, who is posted at Bologna. This corps has already advanced as far as Modena, and the enemy has retired towards Ponti Trimoli. By this means our army will draw supplies from the fertile provinces of Ferrara, Bologna, and Modena, and at the same time the territory of Parma is wrested from the hands of the French.

Field marshal lieutenant Kaim, with six battalions and four squadrons, joined the grand army before Tortona, after the reduction of Pizzighetone. General Hohenzollern was sent with four battalions to Milan, where are already six battalions, commanded by general Latterman, with orders to press the siege of the castle of that city.

The four squadrons of cavalry being unnecessary for the siege, have received orders to reinforce the army of Piedmont.

MAY 19.

The Archduke Charles has sent by his first lieutenont Leibrich de Splenzy, an account, that lieutenant general Hotze has, agreeably to the instructions he had received, attacked the passage of Lucensteig on the morning of the 14th inst. and had succeeded in taking possession of them, and made prisoners almost the whole of the 14th demi brigade, and took 8 pieces of cannon.

Lieutenant general Hotze entertained great hopes that he should be able to take a great number of prisoners as he advanced, the enemy being still in the Pritigua, and our troops having already reached the bridge of Zolibrucke, which leads from the valley Pritigua to Coire, where his royal highness presumes our troops had arrived on the 14th.

His royal highness will give as soon as possible the details of this important operation.

MAY 21.

Captain Comte Catamelli, of the emperor's regiment of cuirassiers, arrived here this day as courier from his royal highness the archduke Charles, with the particulars respecting the subsequent operations of field marshal general Hotze in the Grison country.

The enemy's divisions, which had been driven to the mountains by Col. Plunket, and the column of general Heller, retreated to Farna, in the design of escaping either by Zizers or by Coire. But finding that field marshal lieutenant Hotze occupied these two points, and that he had already posted two battalions in the latter, they surrendered themselves prisoners of war.

The total of the prisoners amounts to 1000 privates, and 80 officers, a pair of colours has also been taken.

Besides this, in the pursuit after the affair of Lucensteig on the 15th, we took four pieces of cannon, and made two companies of grenadiers prisoners, without counting the eight pieces of cannon and the demi brigade already mentioned.

Field marshal lieutenant Hotze reconnoitred the enemy on the 13th near Reichenau; at the same time he appeared in great force against Ragatz, where the had 2000 men. This demonstration produced an engagement, and the enemy being obliged to retreat, burnt the bridge over the rivulet Pfefferer. We, however, pursued them beyond Fettes; part of them were driven into the valley of Sargans, where an officer and 30 men were made prisoners.

We had a few men wounded. We took three more cannon from the enemy near Ragatz, which, with those already mentioned, makes 15 guns.

After this last attack, the enemy withdrew in the night between the 15th and 16th with such precipitation, and had lost so much ground, that when this account came away, field marshal Hotze was already at Sargans; at the same time the field marshal lieutenant received intelligence that colonel Count St. Julin was at Lenz, and field marshal lieutenant count Haddick at Fehfur.

The enemy is retiring on the side of Fusis, probable in order to join the camp at Reichenau, and to attempt to continue their retreat towards St. Gothard by the only road now left them, viz. Ilan and the Devil's bridge. But as the Upper League of the Grisons was preparing to rise, colonel Strauch closed the passage of Spligen, and field marshal lieutenant Hotze that of Gunkels. It is also probable that field marshal lieutenant count de Bellegarde, will advance towards Coire and Fusis.—From all which it may be concluded that this corps of the enemy, consisting of 7,000 men, is in a most critical situation, from which it will be extremely difficult to disengage itself.

In order to assist as much as possible field marshal lietenant Hotze, in the attack of Lucienstieg, his royal highness the archduke Charles, made at the same time a demonstration towards the Rhine whith such success, that a corps of the enemy of 17,000 men assemble near Schaffhausen were prevented from sending any detachment against field marshal lieut. Hotze.

It appears by accounts sent by field marshal lieutenant Kosporth to his royal highness, that on the night of the 14th, general Meerfeldt surprised the enemy's post at Dundeheim, and killed three officers and 60 grenadiers who resisted. One officer and four soldiers were made prisoners. We also took 14 horses.

MAY 22.

What lieutenant, general Bellegarde had announced previous to the bulletin of the 22d and 23d inst, which his royal highness the archduke Charles had ordered to be published relative to the operation of lieutenant general Hotze, is connected with what follows, although the intelligence from lieutenant general Bellegarde arrived later,

According to this account, colonel and brigadier Strauch, after very fatiguing marches, reached Chiavenna with his brigade on the 9th inst. at which place col. Le Loup, of the van guard of gen. Vukassovich, had arrived on the preceding day.

From the 7th the enemy had commenced their retreat from Chiavenna by the valley of Glacomo, leaving at the first place 32 pieces of cannon, of which we have taken possession.

Col. Staruch being reinforced with three battalions of light troops, and the remainder of the third battallion of Michael Wallis, commanded by col. Carneville, pursued the enemy to the heights, and col. Prince Victor de Rohan went with his force to Bellinzone, to dispute the passage of the Bernadin.

The brigade of col. Strauch had many difficulties to surmount at Morpegon, in the valley of Camonica. He was obliged to wait two days at Piacca, in order to dig a road through the snow near Casa St. Marco, as it was impossible for the soldiers to march, the snow being 15 feet deep, and not hard enough to bear. By this means the communication is re-established with the principle corps of lieutenants general Bellegrade, Sina, Plauta, Malagio, and Cassaitch.

Demonstrations were made for the purpose of alarming the enemy on the hills of Julie and Albolo, in order to facilitate the operations of general lieutenant Hotze and general Bellegrade was prepared to support on the side of Javos and the hill of Albula.

Col. de Marseille of the regiment of Clairfayt, had brought from Albula two pieces of cannon, belonging to the enemy. At Malaga, and at several other places on the road of Chiavenna were found a great quantity of ammunition, muskets, and waggons. The enemy had destroyed a part of them in retreating.

The first intention of the enemy was to proceed to Chiavenna by the mountain of Septime, in order to join gen. La Courbe, near Lentz; but the detachment of the van guard of gen. Bellegrade, which had advanced from pamada as far as Malagio Cassaiich, prevented this, and obliged them to retreat by the Spligen.

TOZZERS, (SWITZ.) MAY 15.

We have triumphed. The French have been beaten at all points. The upper tollbridge has been taken by storm, and the enemy forced within half a league of Chur (Coire.) Last night the peasant, took 1100 French prisoners near Chur. Three thousand prisoners, with 13 cannons fell into our hands.

[Accounts from Feldkirk, confirm the above, and one from Lindau, May 16, says, general Hotze had passed the Rhine near Sergens; and that he was to penetrate by lake Weldstadt to Zutich. The general passage of the Rhine was hourly expected, and pontoons provided.—Centinel.]

STUTGARD, MAY 29.

The Italian Tyrolese gazette supply of that the Austrians after taking [illegible] had penetrated into May[illegible] carrying on the vanced as far as Coire. [illegible] fallen back on Ragaz, [illegible] ans remained masters [illegible] of the Rhine below [illegible] prisoners were made in the reduction of Lucienstieg. From Mayenfield, May 15, we learn, that the peasants in the Grisons attacked the French above Coire, and forced them to fly from Ilang and Reichenau.

LONDON, MAY 30.

Lord Bridport, it is said, has adopted the wisest precautions to encounter any danger that might affect Ireland from the Brest fleet: his frigates are so disposed as to communicate by guns and signals nearly two hundred miles along the south and west coasts, while his principal force (28 sail of the line) is so concentred as to be able to act immediately upon any point where it may become expedient.

JUNE 1.

Not a single merchant ship has been permitted to sail from any port since the Brest fleet was at sea, notwithstanding numerous applications have been made to the admiralty for a license.

JUNE 4.

Yesterday the gentleman who had made lists for the loan, waited upon Mr. Pitt, by appointment, in Downing street, when they were informed that the loan would be for fifteen millions five hundred to give,

125l. Three per cent consols,
50l. Three per cent reduced, and that the bidding was to be upon long annuity—to be concluded next Wednesday morning. The first payment of 10 per cent. to be on Tuesday, the 11th of June, and the whole to be paid up by the 21st of December, by instalments of 15 per cent each. The minister mentioned, that exclusive of this loan, he should also have occasion for a vote of credit not exceeding 3,800,000.

It is impossible for us to venture even to anticipate what may be the price of the funds on Wednesday morning; but taking them at a trifle under the prices yesterday, we think the following terms could neither be disadvantageous to the subscribers to take, nor enormous for the minister to give, viz.

	Annuity	Interest
125l. Three per cent Consols, at	7	0 0 3 15
50l. Three per cent reduced, at	55 8 7	10 0 1 10
5s. Long annuity, 16 yrs. purchase,	4	0 0 0 5
		13 1. 10s. 5. 10.

being a bonus of 1l. 10s. and the interest no more than 6¼ per cent.

Head quarters of lieutenant gen. Hotze, Mayenfield, May 14.

My Lord,

I have the honor to inform your lordship, that this day general Hotze made a general and completely successful attack on the French corps in the Grison country, dislodged them from all their positions, from St. Lucienstieg (which is on the northern boundary) to Coire inclusive, and took sixteen pieces of cannon, and two thousand prisoners.

I have the honor to be, &c.

(Signed) ROBERT CRAUFURD.

P. S. The immediate departure of a courier from gen. Hotze prevents my giving at present any further details.

A Right Hon. Lord Grenville, &c. &c. &c.

Alexandria, August 6.

The Editor of the Aurora mentions, that in one day fifty one persons called at the office, and proffered themselves as security on account of his arrestation.

On Friday last, in the district court of the U. S. (at Philad.) before Judge Peters, William Duane, editor of the Aurora, was bound, himself in 2000 dollars, and two sureties of 1000 each, to appear before the next District Court of the United States, to answer for a libel against the administration.—His sureties were Col. JOHN BARKER and GUY BRYAN, Esq.

Let the Federalists of Maryland then know, that R. G HARPER is a resident here, and intends following the profession as a lawyer in our courts, and [illegible] every Federalist in it

FROM THE AURORA.

Several anxious enquiries having been made concerning the editor yesterday—and as he could not attend to them all and perform his duty at the same time—he is induced to satisfy them and inform the readers of the Aurora generally in this manner.—that the editor was yesterday between nine and ten o'clock arrested by John Nichols, esq marshal of this district, upon a warrant from judge Peters, and on behalf of the administration, for publishing in the Aurora of the 24th instant certain matters alledged to be defamatory or untrue, concerning the administration.

By the marshal he was treated in a gentlemanly manner—and by judge Peters, he was very politely allowed until Friday morning to bring forward securities.

To those who are personally acquainted with the editor, no declarations concerning his past or future conduct are necessary—to those who know him only as the organ of public sentiment—a trustee for the public to detect and expose public errors, and to promote the public good—he can give only these brief and steadfast assurances, that he has not published a fact which he cannot prove, and that neither persecution nor any other peril to which bad men may expose him, can make him swerve from the cause of republicanism—or prove himself unworthy to be the successor of the descendant of Franklin, in whose steps it is his pride and pleasure to tread, with the same confidence in his country and the laws.

NEW YORK JULY 31.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Newry, to his friend in this city, June 7

"Mr. Falls had the same fever (putrid) as his wife, and his life was despaired of.—Dr. Black ordered him two spoonfulls of yeast, or barm, fresh off the beer, to be taken every three hours, and bark intermediate; he is now out of danger. This is a late and very accidental discovery, which has saved many lives."

[The other printers would do well to make this as much known as possible.]

The chamber of commerce, and a number of citizens, gave a public dinner yesterday to captain Truxton, at the tontine coffee house, as a mark of respect and gratitude for the service he has rendered his country. The entertainment was such as might be expected from the public spirit of the managers, and was honored with a very respectable company.

AUGUST 1.

In our paper of Monday last, we published a few particulars of the unhappy fate of a part of the crew of the schooner Nautilus, from this port to Curracoa. We have since seen capt. Puller, the bearer of the information, who says that he saw the men spared by the mutineers privateersmen, and was informed by them, that after an engagement of an hour and an half capt. Dixon was run through the body; and though not dead plunged into the deep; after which they stabbed the first and second mates, and two seamen, threw them down into the forecastle, and shut it up; where they were left to perish by lack of food, heat and suffocation. He says, that captain Dixon, finding their bloody intentions, earnestly entreated them to spare his life, as he had a family in New-York whose subsistance depended on his industry. It was, however, useless to offer arguments to the sanguinary monsters—they replied, he should die for the resistance he had made, and immediately commenced the horrid massacre.

Who that is not dead to ordinary feelings of human nature, can avoid execrating acts so atrocious?—Astonishing as it may seem we shall not be surprised to observe it justified by the scribblers of the Aurora, Argues, &c. If their hardihood does not rise to this, they will probably deny it, and adduce the erroneous account respecting captain Kemp in evidence; to support their scepticism; but possessing the evidence we do—the respectable testimony of capt. Fuller—we cannot hesitate to avow our implicit belief of the fact.

BOSTON, JULY 27.

As evidence of the malignance of the yellow fever at Havanna, there died at Port Cavello, of the crew of the ship William, of Salem, 11 persons from the 27th May to the 12th June last.

KINGSTON, JULY 6.

Late accounts from St. Domingo state, that Toussaint has actually commenced hostilities against Rigaud, and has made himself master of Jacmel.

We understand that William Savage, esquire, of this town, merchant, is appointed agent to the United States of America.

Monday arrived at port Royal the United States sloop of war Montezuma, captain Mulloney, of 24 guns, from a cruise On entering Port-Royal, she saluted the fort and flag, which was immediately returned.

Capt. Richard Bune, of the brig Polly of New-York, informs that he parted off Cape Maize, with the American armed ship Gen. Greene, Christopher Raymond Perry, esquire, commander, who requested him to take this public method to inform those concerned, that he, with six other armed ships, will cruise for some considerable time from Cape Anthonio to the Havanna, for the protection of the American trade.

Thursday a great number of American captains and others, dined together at Tatton's hotel, it being the anniversary of the independence of America.

We understand that the capt. of the United States sloop of war Montezuma, gave an elegant dinner on board his ship, on Thursday, in honor of the day.

SALEM, JULY 26.

The ship Martha, captain Prince arrived here last Saturday from Barcelona and Gibraltar—Sailed from the coast of Catalonia the 24th of May. He informs, that the French fleet, of 24 sail of the line, passed the Straits of Gibraltar the 4th of May: Captain P. received a letter from Barcelona of the 21st May, mentioning they had arrived at Toulon. The English fleet, of 16 sail of the line, sailed from Gibralter the 14th of May in pursuit of them. Five sail of the line from England passed the Straits the 21st (without stopping at Gibraltar) to join the fleet.—May 18th, the Spanish fleet of 17 sail of the line passed Gibraltar in a fog; and, after encountering very bad weather, in which many of them were dismasted, part arrived at Carthagena, and five sail go into Oran, on the coast of Barbary, where the plague rages very severely, as well as on the whole coast.

Entered, brigs Mars, Orne; from Barcelona; St. John, Godshall, Tobago; schooner Ranger, Attwick, Trinidada; Sally, Rea, do. Thomas, Thorndike, do.; Four Sisters, Shillabar, St. Thomas's.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber on Sunday the 4th inst. a negro man named ROBERT, who is generally called BOB. He is a low chunky fellow, about 5 feet 1 or 2 inches high. He is square and well made, is pitted with the small pox, and is about 23 years of age. His cloathing cannot be described.—He is remarkably fond of being about shipping; and will endeavor, in all probability, to pass for a sailor and get on board some vessel. All masters, as well as others, are therefore cautioned not to harbor or take off said negro; as any person so transgressing shall be dealt with according to law.

There are also 700 thriving Apple Trees, and a great number of peach, pear, and cherry trees. With the Furnace are all the neceſſary ſtocks, patterns, and tools compleat for carrying on the buſineſs, a houſe, a grist mill lately repaired, a well ſituated ſawmill near the bank of the river [illegible], ſmith's ſhop, ſtore houſes calculated [illegible]s and caſtings, meat houſe, corn [illegible], a barn almoſt new 70 feet [illegible]y 12, a barn almoſt new 70 feet newly b[illegible] teen houſes for workmen, moſt of for dry goo[illegible]h ſtone chimneys and ſhingled roofs, houſe 36 fee[illegible] comfortable dwelling houſe, and a paſture by 40, ſe[illegible]n in a high ſtate of cultivation. The land there [illegible]bounds with ſprings of excellent water, and has an inexhauſtible ſupply of limeſtone, and a quarry of good marble. There are alſo two other conveniences for water works, which may be improved at a ſmall expence, the fall being upwards of 30 feet. An abundant ſupply of wood may be obtained in the neighborhood without difficulty, to aid in carrying on the furnace. In point of health and romantic proſpect, this place is not exceeded by any on Potomac river, being ſituated about two miles above Harper's Ferry; and the lands, for a conſiderable diſtance, bounded with thoſe now improving for the chief arſenal of the United States. Oppoſite the Furnace, and for three miles above, is a beautiful ſheet of water, on which the ore is tranſported from the bank to the furnace, which ſtands within 30 or 40 feet of the river, and ſo convenient that three hands can deliver thirty tons a day—at the lower termination of this ſheet of water, the canal now opening for the above mentioned arſenal will originate. About thirty working horſes, with gears, waggons, and farming utenſils, and a large ſtock of horned cattle and hogs, may be alſo had with the premiſes, as well as a good ſtock of ore ready raiſed, and of cord wood & coal.

ALSO,

The farm contains about 230 acres, and near the houſe is a good garden and young orchard—there is alſo the right of cutting cord wood on a very large tract ſurrounding the forge, and very convenient thereto. The ſtock of every kind will be ſold with the premiſes, if required. From the furnace there is water tranſportation to the forge, and from thence to George Town, the Federal City, and Alexandria.

When the proſpects of the increaſing value of this property is contemplated, it muſt be an object worthy the attention of any one deſirous of engaging in an Iron Buſineſs, eſpecially as the metal is conſidered equal, if not ſuperior to any in the United States, for cannon and moſt other kinds of caſtings, and may be waterborne from either of the works to the ſea ports.

For terms reſpecting the firſt deſcribed property, apply to George North, one of the proprietors, who lives on the premiſes; and for either that or the forge, in Alexandria, to
